

MELTDOWN RECOVERY STEPS

For after a hard moment

Meltdowns are hard. Recovery takes time.
These steps can help me feel safe, calm, and ready again.

1

I need space.

It's okay to take space.
I can go to my safe
space or quiet area.

- ♥ I can be alone
for a little while.
- ♥ I don't have to talk right now.

2

I breathe.

I can take deep breaths
to help my body calm down.

- Breathe in slowly
- Breathe out slowly
- Repeat a few times

3

I take care of my body.

I can give my body what it needs.

- Drink some water
- Eat a snack
- Use the bathroom
- Stretch or move

4

I soothe myself.

I can do things that help me feel calm.

- Use something comforting
- Listen to music
- Draw or color
- Fidget or squeeze something

5

I think about it.

When I feel better, I can think about what happened.

- What triggered me?
- What can I do
differently next time?
- What do I need?

6

I'm ready to try again.

I can return when I feel calm and ready.

- I can ask for help
- I can take small steps
- I can keep practicing

I am doing my best. I am learning and growing.
I am not alone.
